Is the treatment of teeth with pulp disease routine or easy? We have all seen or heard about the one-day CE Course that claims to make you more proficient in handling molar endodontics. But is this a realistic expectation? Can endodontics really be that simple? What about the challenges in diagnosis, access preparation, orifice and canal location, efficient and proper canal instrumentation, irrigation and the importance of a three dimensional fill? How should we restore an endodontically treated tooth? Please join us, as our guest lecturer discusses these topics and more!
